That is the Fate of the Imprisoned Miners—Sad Scenes.

By Telegram to The Sentinel.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Dec. 22.—There was no rest for Nanticoke last night. It is impossible to describe in words the consternation, dismay and agony which spread throughout the village when it was learned after midnight, that all efforts to get the entombed men out alive were abandoned. The town never saw such a sight as that witnessed from 2 to 4 o'clock this morning. None thought of rest. The whole population was on the streets discussing in the wildest manner the conclusion to abandon the efforts at rescue. Exclamations of despair, cries of agony and mutterings of discontent, were heard on every corner and in almost every household. The relatives of the unfortunate victims were in the wildest agony of despair. Several were seized with convulsions. Fannie Sarver a sister of the two Sarver brothers was prostrated with violent fits, and at 5 o'clock this morning it was feared she would die. Mrs. Kiveler, the old mother of the three Kiveler brothers, was at death's door from weakness and the shock and many other relatives and friends of the victims were completely prostrated.

The officials in charge of the rescuing expedition were forced to abandon all work from the air-shaft by several irretrievable conclusions. Investigations at an early hour this morning show that the sand rock and culm had fallen to such an extent that the mine in which the imprisoned men were now filled to the roof and the men dead and beyond all human help. The second cave-in took place during the night, which was of very large proportions and the real extent of the damage can hardly be estimated but it is great. This fall brought with it volumes of black, damp and sulphurous gases, which filled the mine and put a peremptory stop to all work.

At 6 o'clock this morning it was learned that the bodies of the victims could not be recovered for a month, and since this news has been spread throughout the mining region the most intense excitement prevails. Every effort will now be made to work in towards the gangways, and clearing up dirt will be pushed as rapidly as possible. It is thought the work will be long and tedious, as there is about 3,000 feet of the gangway also filled up and it is said to be packed to the roof.

The officials of the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal company are now going to sink a shaft directly over the slope where the imprisoned miners are supposed to be. It is thought by doing this they can reach the victims in about four days.

STATESMEN ASSEMBLE.

The Republicans Hold a Meeting to Organize for Future Elections—Messrs. New, Moon and Williams Inter-viewed.

For a day or two local republicans have been arranging for a love feast, and when Hon. John C. New, of Indianapolis, Gen. George B. Williams, of Lafayette, Hon. Calvin Cowgill, of Wabash, George Moon, of Warsaw, and Capt. Hiram Idings, of Kendallville, registered at the Aveline house, there was much stir among local statesmen here. This morning a dozen leading republicans, including the visitors named, met at Col. R. S. Robertson's office. This assembly was but preliminary to a general meeting at Rathbone hall this afternoon.

The Sentinel representative met Mr. George Moon, the old revenue collector, and applying the usual inquiry he replied: "The meeting is to organize for campaign work, in accordance with the instructions of the state committee. The plan is to organize in every county in the state."

"Does this gathering here mean a northern Indiana organization?"

"No," said Mr. Moon, "we are here from abroad to heal up the faction fights that have afflicted the republicans here. They have been fighting each other and not you democrats. We have never received from Allen county the returns the material we have here would warrant. The retention of the Gazette will also be considered because the plan of organization recognizes the necessity of an aggressive organ."

At this moment Hon. John C. New, chairman of the republican state central committee, and Gen. George B. Williams, one of the committee that selected the new federal building site here, came up and were presented to the Sentinel man.

General Williams was engaged and said he, "We came to Fort Wayne to strengthen the republican party and organize for the state, congressional, senatorial and next national elections. We mean to fight every inch of the ground with you and send as many men into office as we can. Yes, the Gazette will be considered. I think it is good property, but the Messrs. Keil have had a book store and the post office and could not give the paper the attention it requires. A man to succeed in the newspaper field must be trained in the work, active, aggressive and be something of a politician outside of his business. I hardly think that Mr. New proposes to take any interest in the matter."

"Is there any truth in the rumor of your proposed purchase of the Gazette?" "No, sir. If I did buy the Gazette, I would publish the best paper you ever had here, and if any one else than a republican buys it, we will have a republican paper here in twenty-four hours."

Capt. F. F. Boltz said the meeting was to organize. "We don't propose to let you fellows have it your own way, if you have a president."

Col. R. S. Robertson and J. B. Harper said the gathering was to organize, and all the gentlemen disclaimed it had any connection with the alleged movement to oppose the confirmation of democratic nominees now before the senate.

A meeting is in progress at Rathbone hall as THE SENTINEL goes to press.

CHARITY WORK.

An Entertainment for the Dying Poor of Fort Wayne.

The members of the Relief Union, assisted by the young lady teachers in the Industrial school, propose to give the children a festival on the Saturday following Christmas.

The Christmas tree from the First Presbyterian church has been kindly placed at their disposal. In addition to the tree, we desire to give each child a neat box or basket of food to take home with her. When our friends realize that this school now numbers about eighty children, they will readily see the necessity of our asking their help in providing food for the lunches. Cold meats, poultry, bread and butter, pies, simple cookies or cake, fruits, nuts, &c., are the articles which are needed.

We are sure there must be many a bit left from the Christmas dinners of our friends, which they will gladly contribute to gladden the hearts of these little waifs, many of whom come from homes where poverty and squalor are so great that even Santa Claus, the patron saint of children, does not open his sack.

The room of the society, in the Third Presbyterian church, will be open on Saturday morning, December 26, at 9 o'clock, when we hope to receive such generous donations as to enable us to make it the "happiest day of all the year" for these little children. We want each and all who are interested in the work we are doing to consider this a personal appeal to him or her to contribute.

Mrs. A. L. Bond, President.
Mrs. E. R. Bursley, Secretary.

"Truth has a quiet breast," says Avon's bard, but when the breast is racked with a cough it cannot be quiet. Try a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. The cough it will stay, the soreness allay, and you'll bless Dr. Bull for many a day.

Engine 1051, with the Barnes spark arrester and smoke consuming stack, left for Andrews to-day. She will run a passenger train from Andrews to Toledo. Engineer, Billy Hartman.

ORGANIZED.

The Hendricks Monument Association Takes Definite Shape.

The active promoters of the Hendricks monument project met at the court house last night and Hon. John Morris read a plan of organization which is outlined and was agreed to as follows:

The name of this association shall be "The Hendricks Monument Association of Allen county, Indiana."

It shall be auxiliary to the Hendricks Monument association at Indianapolis. Charles Muhler shall be president; Col. R. S. Robertson shall be vice president; Charles McCulloch shall be treasurer, and Samuel M. Foster shall be secretary of said association, who shall hold their respective offices until the second Monday in January, 1887, and until their successors are chosen.

The executive committee shall consist of Montgomery Hamilton, R. C. Bell, W. G. Colerick, Christian Tresselt, R. S. Taylor, Ed. O'Rourke and C. A. Munson, who shall act until the second Monday in January, 1887, when the officers of said association shall choose a committee for the next ensuing year. Such committee shall be appointed annually thereafter by said officers.

The names of all subscribers to the fund of this association shall be attached to these articles by the secretary and they shall thereby become honorary members of this association.

There was much interest manifested in the movement to aid in the erection of a monument to the distinguished Indiana statesman, and many tender tributes were paid to his memory by Judge Morris and Judge Colerick.

Real Estate Transfers.

Olds Bros., real estate agents, room No. 8, Foster block, report the following recorded real estate transfers:

Jesse T. Laree to Henry Wiegman, dy warranty deed, eighty acres in section 32, St. Joseph township, for $5,000. Henry R. Bond to Christian Gause, by warranty deed, 160 acres in section 22 and 100 acres in section 23, Madison township, for $6,000.

John Dulman to Timothy Kenark, by quit claim deed, undivided two-fifths of forty acres in section 10, Madison township, for $850.

LOCAL LINES.

Judge S. M. Hench went to Lima this afternoon.

John Lechner, the saloon man, is lying at the point of death from blood poison. The report of his death is untrue.

A clear conscience, a pair of easy fitting shoes and a bottle of Red Star Cough Cure will make a man happy and contented.

The first volume of General Grant's memoirs will be delivered here between this date and January 14, so pretty Miss Lena Coats writes us.

John Carpenter, Isaac Baker, Fred Wibel and John Prill were arrested today for disturbing a literary meeting out on the Bluffton road near Five Points. The young men have annoyed participants in the literary exercises for some time and Justice Ryan imposed fines on the offenders.

Mars Shipman, of Chicago, is in the city. Mr. Shipman is a champion wrestler and desires to tackle any one. He weighs 235 pounds and came here to spar John Miller, a Fort Wayne light weight. Miller weighs but 135 pounds and is no match for Mr. Shipman, who also believes he has no knowledge of the art of self defense.

The concluding concert of the R. R. Y. M. C. A. was much of a success and exceedingly enjoyable. Miss Emma Falk, Miss Sadie Churchill and Miss Fannie Page sang sweetly and captivated the audience. Miss Rose Schlesinger artistically executed a piano solo and Miss Vail gave a recitation. Prof. Heath's trombone solo was enjoyed and Messrs. Alf and Perry Lukens were the big cards of the evening.

To Mr. W. D. Page is due the thanks of the association for the success of the entertainment and the clever character of the numbers.

Of the nineteen Presidents elected to that position, four, W. H. Harrison, Zachariah Taylor, Abraham Lincoln, and James A. Garfield, died in office. Of the Vice Presidents, and those acting as such, George Clinton, Elbridge Gerry, William R. King, Henry Wilson, Thomas Hendricks, died in office. Of the forty Presidents and Vice-Presidents, nine, or over 20 per cent, have died in office. This is a greater ratio of mortality than has befallen any other class of men.

The Chicago Wheat Market Drops.

By Telegram to The Sentinel.
CHICAGO, Dec. 22.—Trading on the exchange this afternoon is very excited, May wheat dropping to 90 cents. The occasion of the break was owing to the reported shipment of gold from New York to Europe and a drop in stocks and wheat at New York.

Congress Adjourns.

By Telegram to The Sentinel.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—Both houses of congress adjourned yesterday until January 5. The closing hours of the senate were passed in discussing the Kelly matter and in executive session. In the house these bills were introduced:

By Mr. Lowry, of Indiana.—Repealing all limitations as to the time in which meritorious applications for pensions may be filed; for the erection of a monument to the memory of the late Gen. Shields; proposing a constitutional amendment providing for the election of postmasters by the people.

By Mr. Lawler, of Illinois, appropriating $10,000 for the erection in Indianapolis, of a monument to the memory of the late Thomas A. Hendricks; also to enforce the eight hour law.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—Since the present session of congress began 728 bills and joint resolutions have been introduced in the senate, and seven—of which originated in the house—have been passed by that body. Twelve hundred and forty-seven executive messages, containing about 1,500 nominations, have been sent by the president to the senate and have been referred to the proper committees, but no nominations have been confirmed. Two treaties, one relating to the boundary between this country and Mexico, and the other providing for the settlement of the claims of certain American citizens against Venezuela, have been sent to the senate for ratification. Twenty-four bills and joint resolutions have been introduced in the house of representatives and four, two of which originated in the senate, have been passed.

The treasury department has affirmed the decision of the collector of customs at Baltimore, in assessing duty on 34,000 grain bags which the importers claimed to be exempt from duty as bags of American manufacturers exported and returned because the bags were not marked and the appraiser was not able to identify them.

WALKERTON, Ind., Dec. 22.—At North Liberty, Ind., George Chadwell was in Mike Blue's house with Blue's wife. Blue came home and knocked the door down with an ax. Chadwell escaped through a back window. Blue met Chadwell a few minutes later and a fight ensued in which Blue was stabbed seriously if not fatally. Chadwell is in jail.

A Strike Breaks.

By Telegram to The Sentinel.
PITTSBURGH, Dec. 22.—There was a decided break in the Monongahela river miners' strike to-day. In the fourth pool nearly every mine is in operation at reduced rates and the second and third pools have received large accessions to their working forces.

A Prize Fight.

By Telegram to The Sentinel.
HUNTERS POINT, L. I., Dec. 22.—A prize fight this morning between Tom Green, of Williamsburg, and Jimmy Barr, of Greenpoint, without gloves was interrupted in the fourth round by the cry of police, raised, it is said, by Barr's friends. Barr was badly demoralized.

"ALVIN JOSLIN."

The Diamond King, Suicides at New Orleans.

Charles L. Davis (Alvin Joslin), proprietor of Davis' combination show, accidentally and fatally shot his wife while handling a pistol in his room at the Southern hotel, in New Orleans, last week. A few minutes later two of Davis' friends entered the room, saw Davis' pistol lying on the bed and tried to get possession of it, but Davis grabbed it, put the muzzle to his head and fired, causing almost instant death. Mrs. Davis is also dead. Davis was born in Mayfield, Ky. His wife was formerly Miss Annie Wiggman, and was twenty-five years old. Davis' friends are satisfied that the shooting of Mrs. Davis was accidental.

There was no more popular theatrical man on the road. Old "Alvin" was a printers' ink favorite with everybody, the girls and boys, the young and old, and his death will be generally regretted. He advertised like a circus, used to display his diamonds and watch at H. C. Graff's store and always abused THE SENTINEL because it ridiculed him.

Voorhees on Jefferson.

Senator Voorhees will deliver his lecture on Jefferson in five of the principal cities of Indiana, including Fort Wayne, the proceeds going to increase the Hendricks monument fund. This should, as it doubtless will, attract large attention. Voorhees has cast the vote of Indiana for Hendricks in five national democratic conventions—in New York, when Seymour was nominated; in Baltimore, when Greeley was nominated; in St. Louis, when Tilden was nominated; in Cincinnati, when Hancock was nominated, and in Chicago, when Cleveland was nominated. There was never any conflict in political thought between Voorhees and Hendricks. Neither was for absolute free trade, and they were both exponents of the Indiana idea on the subject of finances, and no two conspicuous democratic leaders ever came nearer representing the same sentiment.

TAKE SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR

For All Diseases of the Liver, Kidneys, Stomach and Spleen.

This purely vegetable preparation, now so celebrated as a Family Medicine, originated in the South in 1828. It acts gently on the bowels and kidneys and corrects the action of the liver, and is therefore, the best preparatory medicine, whatever the sickness may prove to be. In all common diseases it will, unassisted by any other medicine, effect a speedy cure.

The Regulator is safe to administer in any condition of the system, and under no circumstances can it do harm. It will invigorate like a glass of wine, but is not an intoxicating beverage to lead to intemperance; will promote digestion, dissipate headache, and generally tone up the system. The dose is small, not unpleasant, and its virtues undoubted.

No loss of time, no interruption or stoppage of business while taking the Regulator.

Children complaining of Colic, Headache, or Sick Stomach, a teaspoonful or more will relieve.

If taken occasionally by patients exposed to MALARIA, will expel the poison and protect them from attack.

A PHYSICIAN'S OPINION.
I have been practicing medicine for twenty years, and have never been able to put up a vegetable compound that would, like Simmons' Liver Regulator, promptly and effectively move the liver to action, and at the same time aid (instead of weakening) the digestive and assimilative powers of the system. Scrofula of Lungs
Relieved.

I am now 49 years old, and have suffered for the last fifteen years with a lung trouble. Several members of the family on my mother's side of the house had died with consumption, and the doctors were all agreed in their opinion that I had consumption also. I had all the distressing symptoms of that terrible disease. I have spent thousands of dollars to arrest the march of this disease, and have employed all of the usual methods, not only in my own case, but in the treatment of other members of my family, but temporary relief was all I obtained. I was unfit for any manual labor for several years. By chance I came into possession of a pamphlet on "Blood and Skin Disease," from the office of Swift, Specific Co., Atlanta, Ga. A friend recommended the use of Swift's Specific claiming that he himself had been greatly benefited by its use in some lung troubles. I resolved to try it. About four years ago I commenced to take S. S. S. according to directions. I found it was doing me good, and have used about fifty bottles. The results are most remarkable. My cough has left me, my strength has returned, and I weigh sixty pounds more than I ever did in my life. It has been three years since I stopped the use of the medicine, but I have had no return of the disease, and there are no pains on weakness felt in my lungs. I do the hardest kind of mechanical work, and feel well as I felt since I was a boy. These, I know, are wonderful statements to make, but I am honest when I say that I owe my existence and health to-day to Swift's Specific. It is the only medicine that brought me any permanent relief. I do not say that Swift's Specific will do this in every case, but most positively affirm that it has done this much for me. I would be recreant to the duty I owe to suffering humanity if I failed to bear this cheerful testimony to the merits of this wonderful medicine. I am well known in the city of Montgomery, and can refer to some of the best citizens in the city. T. J. HOIT.

WORDS OF WISDOM.

BILL NYE'S Extract from the Diary of John Adams—John's Experience as an Amateur Gardener and His Hopes of Political Advancement.

December 6.—It is with great difficulty that I write this entry in my diary, for this morning Abigail thought best for me to carry the oleander down into the cellar, as the nights have been growing colder of late. I do not know which I dislike most, foreign usurpation or the oleander. I have carried that plant up and down stairs every time the weather has changed, and the sickle elements of New England have kept me rising and falling with the thermometer, and whenever I raised or fell I most always had that scrawny oleander in my arms.

Richly has it repaid us, however, with its long, green, limber branches and its little yellow nubs on the end. How full of promise is the glorious Scandinavian plant we call the Ole Andre. How full of promises to the eye that are broken to the heart. The oleander is always just about to meet its engagements, but later on it peters out and fails to materialize.

I do not know what we would do if it were not for our house plants. Every fall I should carry them cheerfully down cellar, and in the spring I will bring up the pots for Mrs. Adams to weep softly into. Many a night at the special instance and request of my wife I have risen, clothed in one simple, clinging garment, to go and see if the speckled, double and twisted Rise-up-William-Riley geranium was feeling all right.

I have driven one toe back into my foot, almost out of sight, by prowling around in the night and trying to kick rocking-chairs out of my way as I groped around to find a newspaper that I might spread over the three-cornered sacred picnic cactus from Farther India. And yet, what has the three-cornered sacred, picnic cactus from Farther India ever done for us that we should try to make its life a happy one?

Last summer Abigail brought home a slip of English ivy. I do not like things that are English very much, but I tolerated this little, sickly thing because it seemed to please Abigail. I asked her what were the salient features of the English ivy. What did the English ivy do? What might be its specialty? Mrs. Adams said that it made a specialty of climbing. It was a climber from away back. "All right," I then to her did straightaway say, "let her climb."

It was a good early climber. It climbed higher than Jack's beanstalk. It climbed the golden stair. Most of our plants are actively engaged in descending the cellar stairs or in ascending the golden stair most all the time.

I descended the cellar stairs with the oleander this morning, though the oleander got there a little more previously than I did. Parties desiring a good, second-hand oleander tub, with castors on it, will do well to give us a call before going elsewhere. Purchasers desiring a good set of second-hand ear muffs for tulips will find something to their advantage by addressing the subscriber.

We also have two very highly ornamental green droogoods for ivy vines to ramble over, at a sacrifice, in order to make room for our large stock of new and attractive dogoods. These articles are as good as ever. We bought them during the panic last fall for our vines to climb over, but as our vines died of membranous eroup in November, these dogoods still remain unclaimed. Second-hand-dogoods for plants always on hand. Ornamental geranium stumps at bed-rock prices. Highest cash prices paid for slips of black-and-tan foliage plants. We are headquarters for the century-plant that draws a salary for ninety-five years and then dies.

I do not feel much like writing in my diary to-day, but the physician says that my arm will be better in a day or two, so that it will be more of a pleasure to do business.

We are still without a servant girl, so I do some of the cooking. I make a fire each day and boil the tea-kettle. People who have tried my boiled tea-kettle say it is very fine.

Some of my friends have asked me to run for the Legislature here next election. Somehow I feel that I might, in public life, rise to distinction some day, and perhaps at some future time figure prominently in the affairs of a one-horse republic at a good salary.

I have never done anything in the statesman line, but it does not look difficult to me. It occurs to me that success in public life is the result of a union of several great primary elements, to wit:

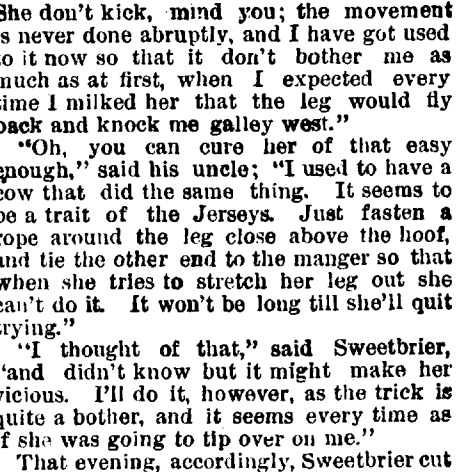

Firstly—Ability to whoop in a felicitous manner.
Secondly—Promptness in improving the proper moment in which to whoop.
Thirdly—Ready and correct decision in the matter of which side to whoop on.
Fourthly—Ability to cork up the whoop at the proper moment and keep it, in a cool place till needed.

A NERVOUS COW.

How She Knocked Sweetbrier's Uncle Out in One Round.

"That's a remarkably fine specimen of Jersey you have there," said Sweetbrier's uncle from the country, who was visiting his city nephew for the first time in several years, and who is a good judge of horned cattle, having a large herd on his farm. "Is she gentle and a good milker?"

"Yes," replied Sweetbrier, "she is gentle, milks easily and the yield at each milking is perfectly astonishing. And such milk! No blue, watery stuff, but the genuine amber-colored article every time. I have but one fault to find with her, and that's not very serious. She has a habit of occasionally stretching her hind leg out and shaking her foot as if there was something biting it that she wants to get rid of."

"Oh, you can cure her of that easy enough," said his uncle; "I used to have a cow that did the same thing. It seems to be a trait of the Jerseys. Just fasten a rope around the leg close above the hoof, and tie the other end to the manger so that when she tries to stretch her leg out she can't do it. It won't be long till she'll quit trying."

"I thought of that," said Sweetbrier, "and didn't know but it might make her vicious. I'll do it, however, as the trick is quite a bother, and it seems every time as if she was going to tip over on me."

That evening, accordingly, Sweetbrier cut off a piece of new clothes-line the required length and roped the uneasy leg. His uncle, who had come out to the barn, then said: "Here, give me the pail; I'd just as soon milk as not." Sweetbrier was perfectly willing as he never hankered much after any kind of farm work, and the old man put on a pair of overalls, sat down on the milking-stool, and proceeded to business.

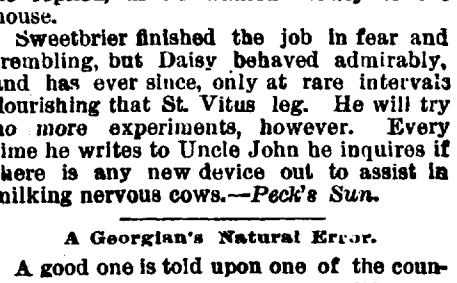

At this point Daisy—that was the cow's given name—turned an inquiring eye on the stranger and reached her nose around to him, after the manner of cows, to make his acquaintance; then resumed her food quietly, merely giving a switch of her versatile tail that almost drew blood on the old man's left ear.

"So, boss; so boss; keep your durned tail still, will you?" said the old man, "or we'll have to tie that up, too." Nothing more occurred for some time to mar the occasion, and the pail was rapidly being filled by the skillful manipulation of Uncle John, when it struck Daisy that her leg needed relaxing, and she lifted it slightly and tried to extend it to the rear. The rope drew taut and again she turned her head and looked with amazement and indignation at the strange man, doubtless blaming him for everything.

"There; you see how it works," said Uncle John. "One or two more trials will—"

At this point the refractory foot flew up towards her forehead, knocking Uncle John's pail out over the manger, and astonishing him so that he didn't think about removing the pail of milk, and after shaking her foot vigorously a few seconds, down it came kerplunk into the pail, splashing the milk into his face and all over his shirt bosom.

That scared her, of course, and then she began to kick with both her hind feet. The clothes-line snapped, and before Uncle John could get out of range she planted that foot full in his stomach and knocked him clean through the door.

The old man was tough, though, and to Sweetbrier's inquiry if he was hurt replied: "No, nothin' to speak of—just out of breath a little; but I thought you said she was gentle. If you call that cow gentle, I'd like to know what chance a boss'd have with a kicker! You just get my hat, will you, and I'll go in and wash up."

"Well, you see, uncle, she was frightened," said Sweetbrier. "If she hadn't happened to step into the pail I presume 'twould have been all right. Don't you want to finish the milking? I guess she'll be milked now."

"No, thanks; my life ain't insured, and I don't believe she likes my looks anyway," he replied, as he walked slowly to the house.

Sweetbrier finished the job in fear and trembling, but Daisy behaved admirably, and has ever since, only at rare intervals flourishing that St. Vitus' leg. He will try no more experiments, however. Every time he writes to Uncle John he inquires if there is any new device out to assist in milking nervous cows.—Peck's Sun.

TUESDAY, DEC. 22, 1885.

THE CITY.

There was no police court this morning.

M. E. Argo was at the Aveline house last night.
Sheriff DeGroff Nelson is quite sick with a fever.

The city council meets in regular session this evening.

Dan McHenry is at home from Notre Dame college for the holiday vacation.

Go and see the red and green lights swung at the Princess rink Tuesday night.

Miss Celeste Fleming is at home from convent school to pass the holidays with her parents.

The gambling houses have closed. "They can't stand the police and hard times," said an old sport.

It is proposed to erect the monument to Hon. Thomas A. Hendricks in the new state house yard at Indianapolis.

An ordinance will be introduced tonight, at the council meeting, providing for the appointment of a meat inspector.

The county commissioners inspected the hospitals to-day and like the county asylum found them in excellent condition.

Simon S. Metcalf and Cora Keplinger, Uriah Whitmore and Delia Utter, Geo. W. Phillips and Maggie Arnold have been licensed to marry.

Jasper D. Sweet, convicted for shooting Dr. Waugh, at Chicago, a Hoosier printer and once worked at LaPorte for Sims Majors, of the Gazette.

Hon. Joseph Defrees, of Goshen, is dead. Mr. Defrees was once congressman from the old Fort Wayne district and is familiar to many citizens of Fort Wayne.

Captain Isaac Kidd, who holds a patent for swinging harness as used in fire and police departments, is said to be on a collecting tour raking in royalties. An early visit to this city is anticipated.

The churches are all arranging Christmas celebrations and it is proper they should. The idea is to make the church and Sunday school attractive and inviting to the young people as well as the old.

Judge Sinclair, presiding in the superior court, gave these judgments: Mary W. Mott vs. Alex. Muirhead et al., for $1,123.72, and the Lake Shore national bank, of Dunkirk, N. Y., vs. Alex. Muirhead, for $1,203.50.

Thomas J. Hood vs. Hiram C. Moderwell and Jerome J. Studor, $131.50; D. S. Redelsheimer vs. Wm. M. Funk, for $127.31; D. S. Redelsheimer vs. Joseph Mitten, for $85.90. Judge O'Rourke gave these judgments this morning.

The indications for the lower lake region, as reported by the weather bureau at Washington to THE SENTINEL, are as follows: Local rains, south to west wind, lower barometer, warmer in eastern portion, followed by slight fall in temperature in west portion.

Alexander Ormiston, a well known citizen and a soldier, was this morning appointed mail agent at the south depot in place of E. B. Smith, who declined the position. Mr. Ormiston has always been an active democrat, true to the party and faithful to his friends.

On Thursday evening, December 31, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Collins, in North Lansing, Mich., will occur the marriage of Miss Estella A. Collins to Mr. George B. Poland. The bride to be will be remembered as a former resident of this city, living at No. 5 North Calhoun street. Numerous invitations have been received in this city.

A General order has been issued from the headquarters of the Grand Army of the Republic in a number of cities, informing members of that organization that Washington has been selected as the site of the proposed Grand Army monument to General Grant, and asking posts to send the name, rank and post of each contributor to the fund, so that they may be bound together in books for preservation.

The gentlemen who went to Peru on the Wabash special yesterday have made a report approving the spark arrester and smoke consumer patented by Mr. J. B. Barnes. They also thank Messrs. Barnes and Morris for their hospitality, and THE SENTINEL feels that Mr. Barnes has established his invention as entirely successful and capable of making railroad travel as delightful as a drive into the country, entirely free from smoke and cinders.

Pete Tonnellier's place, at Toledo, is earning a reputation. The Bee says: "From Columbus comes a story of deception in which a Toledo maiden figures prominently. A girl named Jennie Dixon claims to have been cheated out of $75 by Walter Kennedy, a song and dance artist, formerly at Tonnellier's New Era theater. Kennedy claimed to represent a Columbus theater, and as Jennie wanted to go on the stage he had no trouble in getting the money. She is wiser now."

The grand jury has made no report yet.

Postmaster Frank Buter, of New Haven, was in the city to-day.

The lights will be turned down at the Princess ten minutes to-morrow night. Mr. A. C. Trentman has contracted for five car loads of cigars from a New York house.

The young people of the First Presbyterian church will give a festival at the church this evening.

Congressman Lowry resembles in appearance that horny-handed Ohioan, Gen. Samuel F. Carey.

Let everyone turn out at the benefit of the Fort Wayne Rifles Tuesday evening and give the boys a send off.

One freight crew running on the Wabash between Michigan city and Peru were recently laid off for a time.

"Miss Alice Smith, of this place, is visiting her brother and many friends at Fort Wayne," says the Warsaw Times.

The liquor dealers have not held a meeting for a month and all action so far attributed to them is idle nonsense.

Prof. Whitfield, a very clever character actor and facial artist, pleasantly entertained an assemblage at the academy last night.

The city of Madison have adopted the electric light, and awarded the contract to the Jenny Electric company of Indianapolis.

The Railroad Y. M. C. A. cottage meeting will be held this evening at the residence of Robert Hamilton, 91 Williams street.

Nickel Plate and West Shore are to be worked together as soon as the affairs of the former are reorganized, says an eastern authority.

Express companies are doing a thriving business. Holiday requirements have compelled the use of extra cars on the through lines.

Mr. Marsh Wines, of Washington, is in the city to spend the holidays with his relatives here. Mr. Wines has many friends in Fort Wayne.

There is a well grounded rumor afloat that the managers of the Wabash railway contemplate the erection of a new passenger depot at LaPorte.

A Bon Bon carnival is to be given at the Princess rink Friday evening. There will be carnival and skate until 10 o'clock and dance until 12.

Prof. and Mrs. Otto Schmidt and Miss Stella Lawrence will give a piano recital at the M. E. college this evening. The program is quite agreeable.

Charles Schoonover, the Springfield farmer who was struck by a Wabash passenger train the other night, is in a bad way and may not recover.

The cathedral choir is practicing Christmas music under the direction of Mr. John Mohr. The Christmas music in all the Catholic churches will be magnificent.

The Darlington Bros. give an entertainment for the benefit of the Fort Wayne Rifle company at the princess rink to-night. Skating is permitted before and after the exhibition.

D. F. Moore, secretary of the R. R. Y. M. C. A., and M. A. Philley, have returned from South Bend, where they played prominent parts in opening the new Y. M. C. A. rooms there.

Mrs. Ramsey, who was run over by Kaylor's horses last night, is better. The woman lives on East Berry street and her husband is a cripple. The Kaylors will have to pay for a buggy the runaway horses smashed.

The "Drunkard's Warning" was given at the Universalist church, Huntertown, to a fine audience last Saturday night. The drama was nicely rendered and the new scenery was very attractive. The play will be repeated next Tuesday night.

The land league will hold a meeting this week to select a delegate to Chicago on the occasion of Charles Stewart Parnell's reception there. Mr. W. P. Breen is spoken of, and THE SENTINEL knows he would reflect honor on the Fort Wayne league at the Parnell reception.

When Christmas brings abundance Of the joys that sweeten life: When the father glads his children And the husband cheers his wife; When brothers brighten sisters' cheeks, And sweet-hearts sweet hearts bless, And all the world's souls glow And lips their love confess— When Santa Claus, o'erwhelmed with gifts, Takes 'round each persons prize, The merchant's sure of getting left Who doesn't advertise.

"Among the new mail carriers of this city recently appointed I am glad to notice John Gloeckle, who supports his honors with all the grace imaginable. John is a bright young German, and although he has only been on the force a few weeks he handles the mail bag with a speed and an accuracy that is characteristic of the 'old timers,'" says Roy in the Warsaw Times.

An effort has been made to learn the position of Cornelius and William K. Vanderbilt on Nickel Plate matters. Nothing definite can be learned, but there is some talk that they may take the proposed issue of Lake Shore bonds and buy up the Nickel Plate securities in dispute; perhaps thereby avoiding any complications with the Ohio law forbidding leases, consolidations or guarantees of parallel roads.

ROMANY RYE.

The Great Gypsy Melo-Drama at Fort Wayne.

The truly magnificent drama of the Romany Rye will be produced at the Temple theater this week, beginning Thursday. No one can wonder how the Romany Rye has attained such widespread popularity both in England and the United States. George R. Sims has put some of his best work into it. It is superior to the Lights o' London in spectacular effects, incidents, character delineation and dialogue; in the latter feature especially it is far above the great majority of melo-dramas. The plot at first seems intricate, but it is beautifully managed and as it unfolds, act by act, the significance of each word and gesture becomes perfectly plain to the audience. It is the strongest and most perfectly constructed and written melo-drama ever seen in Fort Wayne, and is also one of the most perfectly acted and most splendidly mounted.

Are the Scenes at the Nanticoke Mine.

Another Cave-in Occurs and the Victims Are Left to Died in a Black, Lovely Shaft.

The Mothers, Sisters and Relatives of the Entombed Miners Gazed With Grief.

CANNOT BE RESCUED.

That is the Fate of the Imprisoned Miners—Sad Scenes.

By Telegram to The Sentinel.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Dec. 22.—There was no rest for Nanticoke last night. It is impossible to describe in words the consternation, dismay and agony which spread throughout the village when it was learned after midnight, that all efforts to get the entombed men out alive were abandoned. The town never saw such a sight as that witnessed from 2 to 4 o'clock this morning. None thought of rest. The whole population was on the streets discussing in the wildest manner the conclusion to abandon the efforts at rescue. Exclamations of despair, cries of agony and mutterings of discontent, were heard on every corner and in almost every household. The relatives of the unfortunate victims were in the wildest agony of despair. Several were seized with convulsions. Fannie Sarver, a sister of the two Harver brothers was prostrated with violent fits, and at 5 o'clock this morning it was feared she would die. Mrs. Kiveler, the old mother of the three Kiveler brothers, was at death door from weakness and the shock and many other relatives and friends of the victims were completely prostrated.

The officials in charge of the rescuing expedition were forced to abandon all work from the air shaft by several irretrievable conclusions. Investigations at an early hour this morning show that the sand rock and culm had fallen to such an extent that the mine in which the imprisoned men were was now filled to the roof and the men dead and beyond all human help. The second cave-in took place during the night, which was of very large proportions and the real extent of the damage can hardly be estimated but it is great. This fall brought with it volumes of black, damp and sulphurous gases, which filled the mine and put a peremptory stop to all work.

At 6 o'clock this morning it was learned that the bodies of the victims could not be recovered for a month, and since this news has been spread throughout the mining region the most intense excitement prevails. Every effort will now be made to work in towards the gangways, and clearing up dirt will be pushed as rapidly as possible. It is thought the work will be long and tedious, as there is about 3,000 feet of the gangway also filled up and it is said to packed to the roof.

The officials of the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal company are now going to sink a shaft directly over the slope where the imprisoned miners are supposed to be. It is thought by doing this they can reach the victims in about four days.

STATESMEN ASSEMBLED.

The Republicans Hold a Meeting to Organize for Future Elections—Messrs. New, Moon and Williams Later Viewed.

For a day or two local republicans have been arranging for a love feast and when Hon. John C. New, of Indianapolis, Gen. George B. Williams, of Lafayette, Hon. Calvin Cowgill, of Wabash, George Moom, of Warsaw, and Capt. Hiram Idings, of Kendallville, registered at the Avenue house, there was much stir among local statesmen here. This morning a dozen leading republicans, including the visitors named, met at Col. R. S. Robertson's office. This assembly was but preliminary to a general meeting at Rathbone hall this afternoon.

The Sentinel representative met Mr. George Moom, the old revenue collector, and applying the usual inquiry he replied: "The meeting is to organize for campaign work, in accordance with the instructions of the state committee. The plan is to organize in every county in the state."

"Does this gathering here mean a northern Indiana organization?" "No," said Mr. Moon, "we are here from abroad to heal up the faction fights that have afflicted the republicans here. They have been fighting each other and not you democrats. We have never received from Allen county the returns the material we have here would warrant. The retention of the Gazette will also be considered because the plan of organization recognizes the necessity of an aggressive organ."

At this moment Hon. John C. New, chairman of the republican state central committee, and Gen. George B. Williams, one of the committee that selected the new federal building site here, came up and were presented to the SENTINEL man.

General Williams was engaged and said he, "We came to Fort Wayne to strengthen the republican party and organize for the state, congressional, senatorial and next national elections. We mean to fight every inch of the ground with you and send as many men into office as we can. Yes, the Gazette will be considered. I think it is good property, but the Messrs. Keil have had a look at the paper and the post office and could not give the paper the attention it requires. A man to succeed in the newspaper field must be trained in the work, active, aggressive and be something of a politician outside of his business. I hardly think that Mr. New proposes to take any interest in the matter."

"Is there any truth in the rumor of your proposed purchase of the Gazette?" "No, sir. If I did buy the Gazette, I would publish the best paper you ever had here, and if any one else than a republican buys it, we will have a republican paper here in twenty-four hours."

Capt. F. F. Boltz said the meeting was to organize. "We don't propose to let you fellows have it your own way, if you have a president."

Col. R. S. Robertson and J. B. Harper said the gathering was to organize, and all the gentlemen disclaimed it had any connection with the alleged movement to oppress the confirmation of democratic nominees now before the senate.

A meeting is in progress at Rathbone hall as THE SENTINEL goes to press.

CHARITY WORK.

An Entertainment for the De-serving Poor of Fort Wayne.

The members of the Relief Union, assisted by the young lady teachers in the Industrial school, propose to give the children a festival on the Saturday following Christmas.

The Christmas tree from the First Presbyterian church has been kindly placed at their disposal. In addition to the tree, we desire to give each child a neat box or basket of food to take home with her. When our friends realize that this school now numbers about eighty children, they will readily see the necessity of our asking their help in providing food for the lunches. Cold meats, poultry, bread and butter, pies, simple cookies or cake, fruits, nuts, etc., are the articles which are needed.

We are sure there must be many a bit left from the Christmas dinners of our friends, which they will gladly contribute to gladden the hearts of these little waifs, many of whom come from homes where poverty and squalor are so great that even Santa Claus, the patron saint of children, does not open his sack.

The room of the society, in the Third Presbyterian church, will be open on Saturday morning, December 26, at 9 o'clock, when we hope to receive such generous donations as to enable us to make it the "happiest day of all the year" for these little children. We want each and all who are interested in the work we are doing to consider this a personal appeal to him or her to contribute.

Mrs. A. L. BORN, President.

Mrs. E. R. BRESLAY, Secretary.

"Truth has a quiet breast," says Avon's bard, but when the breast is racked with a cough it cannot be quiet. Try a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. The cough it will stay, the soreness allay, and you'll bless Dr. Bull for many a day.

Engine 101, with the Barnes spark arrester and smoke consuming stack, left for Andrews today. She will run a passenger train from Andrews to Toledo, Augusier, Billy Hartman.

ORGANIZED.

The Hendricks Monument Association Takes Definite Shape.

The active promoters of the Hendricks monument project met at the court house last night and Hon. John Morris read a plan of organization which is outlined and was agreed to as follows:

The name of this association shall be "The Hendricks Monument Association of Allen county, Indiana."

It shall be auxiliary to the Hendricks Monument association at Indianapolis.

Charles Muller shall be president; Col. R. S. Robertson shall be vice president; Charles McCullough shall be treasurer, and Samuel M. Foster shall be secretary of said association, who shall hold their respective offices until the second Monday in January, 1887, and until their successors are chosen.

The executive committee shall consist of Montgomery Hamilton, R. C. Bell, W. G. Colerick, Christian Tresselt, R. S. Taylor, Ed. O'Rourke and C. A. Munson, who shall act until the second Monday in January, 1887, when the officers of said association shall choose a committee for the next ensuing year. Such committee shall be appointed annually thereafter by said officers.

The names of all subscribers to the fund of this association shall be attached to these articles by the secretary and they shall thereby become honorary members of this association.

There was much interest manifested in the movement to aid in the erection of a monument to the distinguished Indiana statesman, and many tender tributes were paid to his memory by Judge Morris and Judge Colerick.

Real Estate Transfers.

Olds Bros., real estate agents, room No. 8, Foster block, report the following recorded real estate transfers:

Jesse T. Laree to Henry Wiegman, by warranty deed, eighty acres in section 32, St. Joseph township, for $5,000.

Henry B. Bond to Christian Gause, by warranty deed, 160 acres in section 22 and 100 acres in section 23, Madison township, for $6,000.

John Dalman to Timothy Kenark, by quit claim deed, undivided two-fifths of forty acres in section 10, Madison township, for $850.

LOCAL LINES.

Judge S. M. Hench went to Lima this afternoon.

John Lechner, the saloon man, is lying at the point of death from blood poisoning. The report of his death is untrue.

A clear conscience, a pair of easy fitting shoes and a bottle of Red Star Cough Cure will make a man happy and contented.

The first volume of General Grant's memoirs will be delivered here between this date and January 14, so pretty Miss Lena Costa writes us.

John Carpenter, Isaac Baker, Fred Wibel and John Phil were arrested today for disturbing a literary meeting out on the Bluffton road near Five Points. The young men have annoyed participants in the literary exercises for some time and Justice Ryan imposed fines on the offenders.

Mrs. Shipman, of Chicago, is in the city. Mr. Shipman is a champion wrestler and desires to tackle any one. He weighs 235 pounds and came here to spar John Miller, a Fort Wayne light weight. Miller weighs but 135 pounds and is no match for Mr. Shipman, who also believes he has no knowledge of the art of self defense.

The concluding concert of the R. R. Y. M. C. A. was much of a success and exceedingly enjoyable. Miss Emma Falk, Miss Sadie Churchill and Miss Fannie Page sang sweetly and captivated the audience. Miss Rose Schlessinger artistically executed a piano solo and Miss Vail gave a recitation. Prof. Haath's trombone solo was enjoyed and Messrs. Alf and Perry Lukens were the big cards of the evening.

To Mr. W. D. Page is due the thanks of the association for the success of the entertainment and the clever character of the numbers.

On the nineteen Presidents elected to that position, four, W. H. Harrison, Zachariah Taylor, Abraham Lincoln, and James A. Garfield, died in office. Of the Vice Presidents, and those acting as such, George Clinton, Elbridge Gerry, William B. King, Harry Wilson, Thomas Hendricks, died in office. Of the forty Presidents and Vice Presidents, nine, or over 20 per cent, have died in office. This is a greater ratio of mortality than has befallen any other class of men.

The Chicago Wheat Market Drops.

By Telegram to The Sentinel.

CHICAGO, Dec. 22.—Trading on the exchange this afternoon is very excited, May wheat dropping to 90 cents. The occasion of the break was owing to the reported shipment of gold from New York to Europe and a drop in stocks and wheat at New York.

Congress Adjourns.

By Telegram to The Sentinel.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—Both houses of congress adjourned yesterday until January 5. The closing hours of the senate were passed in discussing the Kelly matter and in executive session.

In the house these bills were introduced:

By Mr. Lowry, of Indiana.—Repealing all limitations as to the time in which meritorious applications for pensions may be filed; for the erection of a monument to the memory of the late Gen. Shields; proposing a constitutional amendment providing for the election of postmasters by the people.

By Mr. Lawler, of Illinois, appropriating $10,000 for the erection in Indianapolis, of a monument to the memory of the late Thomas A. Hendricks; also to enforce the eight hour law.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—Since the present session of congress began 728 bills and joint resolutions have been introduced in the senate, and seven—none of which originated in the house—have been passed by that body. Twelve hundred and forty-seven executive messages, containing about 1,500 nominations, have been sent by the president to the senate and have been referred to the proper committees, but no nominations have been confirmed. Two treaties, one relating to the boundary between this country and Mexico, and the other providing for the settlement of the claims of certain American citizens against Venezuela, have been sent to the senate for ratification. Twenty-four bills and joint resolutions have been introduced in the house of representatives and four, two of which originated in the senate, have been passed.

The treasury department has affirmed the decision of the collector of customs at Baltimore, in assessing duty on 34,000 grain bags which the importers claimed to be exempt from duty as bags of American manufacturers exported and returned because the bags were not marked and the appraiser was not able to identify them.

HUNTERS POINT, L. I., Dec. 22.—A prize fight this morning between Tom Green, of Williamsburg, and Jimmy Barr, of Greenpoint, without gloves was interrupted in the fourth round by the cry of police, raised, it is said, by Barr's friends. Barr was badly demoralized.

"ALVIN JOSLIN."

The Diamond King, Suicides at New Orleans.

Charles L. Davis (Alvin Joslin), proprietor of Davis' combination show, accidentally and fatally shot his wife while handling a pistol in his room at the Southern hotel, in New Orleans, last week. A few minutes later two of Davis' friends entered the room, saw Davis' pistol lying on the bed and tried to get possession of it, but Davis grabbed it, put the muzzle to his head and fired, causing almost instant death. Mrs. Davis is also dead. Davis was born in Mayfield, Ky. His wife was formerly Miss Annie Wiggeman, and was twenty-five years old. Davis' friends are satisfied that the shooting of Mrs. Davis was accidental.

There was to more popular theatrical man on the road. Old "Alvin" was a printers' link favorite with everybody, the girls and boys, the young and old, and his death will be generally regretted. He advertised like a circus, used to display his diamonds and watch at H. C. Grady's store and always abused THE SENTINEL because it ridiculed him.

Voorhees on Jefferson.

Senator Voorhees will deliver his lecture on Jefferson in five of the principal cities of Indiana, including Fort Wayne, the proceeds going to increase the Hendricks monument fund. This should, as it doubtless will, attract large attention. Voorhees has cast the vote of Indiana for Hendricks in five national democratic conventions—in New York, when Seymour was nominated; in Baltimore, when Greeley was nominated; in St. Louis, when Tilden was nominated; in Cincinnati, when Hancock was nominated; and in Chicago, when Cleveland was nominated. There was never any conflict in political thought between Voorhees and Hendricks. Neither was for absolute free trade, and they were both exponents of the Indiana idea on the subject of finance, and no two conspicuous democratic leaders ever came nearer representing the same sentiment.

Athlaphora, your great remedy, gave me quick relief in a severe case of rheumatism, with which I was afflicted, and I would recommend a trial of it to all sufferers from rheumatism or neuralgia. W. D. Cannon, Iowa City, Ia.

DR. A. C. HOSMER'S GREAT "CURE FOR" —This preparation, a private and original prescription, was extensively used in an epidemic of rheumatism for many years, with perfect success by the late A. C. Hosmer, M. D., of Buffalo, N. Y. Having thoroughly tested and pronounced it positive, swift and sure in its action, and in its most aggravated form, when administered promptly and according to directions, it is a wonderful and direct effect upon the diseased system, and is a most valuable remedy to call in professional aid. If the "Cure for Rheumatism" is not at hand, while powerful and effective, it contains no opium in its form, nor any drug which can have deleterious influence upon the system. The most delicate infants may take it, as directed, with perfect safety. Price 50¢ per bottle by all first-class druggists, wholesale and retail.

For All Diseases of the
Liver, Kidneys, Stomach and Spleen.

This purely vegetable preparation, or so-called "Liver Regulator," is a powerful medicine, and is the only one of its kind. It is a powerful medicine, and is the only one of its kind. It is a powerful medicine, and is the only one of its kind.

No loss of time, no interruption of business, while taking the Regulator.

Children complaining of Colic, Headache, or Sick Stomach, a teaspoonful of more will give relief.

It taken occasionally by patients exposed to MALARIA, will expel the poison and protect them from its return.

A FAVORABLE OPINION.
I have been practicing medicine for twenty years, and have never been able to put up a vegetable compound that would, like Simmons' Liver Regulator, promptly and effectively move the liver to its normal position, and at the same time, without causing the digestive and assimilative powers of the system.

Scrofula of Lungs Relieved.

I am now 45 years old, and have suffered for the last fifteen years with lung trouble. Several members of the family on my mother's side, and the doctors were all agreed in their opinion that I had consumption of the lungs. I had the distressing symptoms of that terrible disease. I have spent thousands of dollars in the treatment of this disease. I have employed all of the usual methods, not only in my own case, but in the treatment of other members of my family, but temporary relief was all that I obtained. I was unfit for any manual labor for several years. My chance came into my possession in the form of a bottle of S.S.S. from the office of Dr. J. H. Zeilin & Co., Atlanta, Ga. A friend recommended the use of S.S.S. as a cure for my lung trouble. I commenced to take S.S.S. according to directions. I found it an invigorating tonic, and have used about fifty bottles. The results are most remarkable. My cough, which was most distressing, has returned, and I weigh fifty pounds more than I ever did in my life. It has been three years since I stopped the use of the medicine, but I have had no return of the disease, and there are no pains or weakness felt in my lungs. I do the hardest kind of mechanical work, and feel well. I feel since I was a boy. These are wonderful statements to make, but I am honest when I say that I owe my existence and health today to S.S.S. It is the only medicine I have ever used that has given me relief. I do not say that S.S.S. will do this in every case, but most positively affirm that it has done this much for me, and I would be content to let any one who suffers from lung trouble, or any other ailment, try S.S.S. I am well known in the city of Montgomery, and can refer to some of the best citizens in the city.

The Daily Sentinel.

TUESDAY, DEC. 22, 1905.

WORDS OF WISDOM.

Bill Nye's Extract from the Diary of John Adams—John's Experience as an Amateur Gardener and His Hopes of Political Advancement.

December 6.—It is with great difficulty that I write this entry in my diary, for this morning Abigail thought best for me to carry the oleander down into the cellar, as the nights have been growing colder of late.

I do not know which I dislike most, foreign usurpation or the oleander. I have carried that plant up and down stairs every time the weather has changed, and the little elements of New England have kept me rising and falling with the thermometer, and whenever I raised or fell I most always had that scrawny oleander in my arms.

Richly has it repaid us, however, with its long, green, limber branches and its little yellow nubs on the end. How full of promise is the glorious Scandinavian plant we call the Ole Andre. How full of promise to the eye that are broken to the heart. The oleander is always just about to meet its encumbrance, but later on it peters out and falls to materialize.

I do not know what we would do if it were not for our house plants. Every fall I shall carry them cheerfully down cellar and in the spring I will bring up the pots.

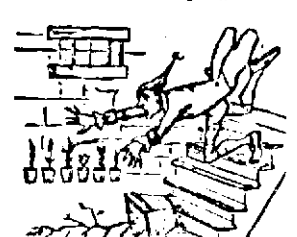

for Mrs. Adams to weep softly into. Many a night at the special instance and request of my wife I have risen, clothed in one simple, clinging garment, to go and see if the speckled, double and twisted lid-up-William Riley geranium was looking all right.

I have driven one back into my foot, almost out of sight, by providing, around in the night and trying to kick, rocking-chairs out of my way as I groped around to find a newspaper that I might spread over the three-cornered, sacred pink cushions from Farther India. And yet what has the three-cornered sacred, pink cushions from Farther India ever done for us that we should try to make its life a happy one?

Last summer Abigail brought home a slip of English ivy. I do not like things that are English very much, but I tolerated this little sticky thing because it seemed to please Abigail. I asked her what were the salient features of the English ivy. What did the English ivy do? What might be its specialty? My addition said that it made a specialty of climbing. It was a climber from away back. "All right," I then to her did straightway say, "let her climb."

It was a good early climber. It climbed higher than Jack's beanstalk. It climbed the golden stair. Most of our plants are actively engaged in descending the cellar stairs or in ascending the golden stair most all the time.

I descended the cellar stairs with the oleander this morning, though the oleander got there a little more precariously than I did. Finding desiring a good second-hand oleander with caters on it, it will do well to give us a call before going elsewhere. Purchasers desiring a good set of second-hand ear muffs for tulips will find something to their advantage by addressing the publisher.

We also have two very highly ornamental green drooping for ivy vines to ramble over. We could be induced to sell these droops for our large stock of new and attractive droops. These articles are of good quality. We bought them during the same last fall for our vines to climb over, but as our vines died of membership in November, these droops still remain unused. Second-hand droops for plants always on hand. Ornamental geranium stumps at bed rock prices. Highest cash prices paid for slips of black-and-ten foliage plants. We are head quarters for the century-plant that draws a salary for ninety-five years and then dies.

I do not feel much like writing in my diary today, but the physician says that my arm will be better in a day or two, so that it will be more of a pleasure to do business.

We are still without a servant girl, so I do some of the cooking. I make a fire each day and boil the tea-kettle. People who have tried my boiled tea-kettle say it is very fine.

Some of my friends have asked me to run for the Legislature here next election. Somehow I feel that I might, in public life, rise to distinction some day, and perhaps at some future time figure prominently in the affairs of a one-horse republic at a good salary.

I have never done anything in the statesman line, but it does not look difficult to me. It seems to me that success in public life is the result of a union of several great primary elements, to wit:

Firstly—Ability to whoop in a fatiguing manner.

Secondly—Promptness in improving the proper moment in which to whoop.

Thirdly—A lively and correct decision in the matter of which side to whoop on.

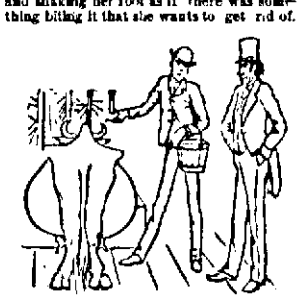

Fourthly—Ability to cork up the whoop at the proper moment and keep it in a cool place till needed.

A NERVOUS COW.

How the Keckled Sweetbrier's Taste Out in One Hour.

"That's a remarkably fine specimen of Jersey you have there," said Sweetbrier's made from the country, who was visiting his city nephew for the first time in several years, and who is a good judge of horned cattle, having a large herd on his farm. "Is she gentle and a good milker?"

"Yes," replied Sweetbrier, "she is gentle, milks easily and the yield at each milking is perfectly astonishing. And such milk! No blue, watery stuff, but the genuine amber-colored article every time. I have but one fault to find with her, and that's not very serious. She has a habit of occasionally stretching her off hind leg out and shaking her foot as if there was something biting it that she wants to get rid of."

"Oh, you can cure her of that easy enough," said his uncle; "I used to have a cow that did the same thing. It seems to be a trait of the Jerseys. Just fasten a rope around the leg close above the hoof, and tie the other end to the manger so that when she tries to stretch her leg out she can't do it. It won't be long till she'll quit trying."

"I thought of that," said Sweetbrier, "and didn't know but it mightn't be too vicious. I'll do it, however, as the trick is quite a bother, and it seems every time as if she was going to tip over on me."

That evening, accordingly, Sweetbrier cut off a piece of new clothes-line the required length and roped the uneasy leg. His uncle, who had come out to the barn, then said: "Here, gimme the pail; I'd just as soon milk as not." Sweetbrier was perfectly willing, as he never hankered much after any kind of farm work, and the old man put on a pair of overalls, sat down on the milking stool, and proceeded to business.

At this point Daisy—that was the cow's given name—stopped her milking, and on the stranger and reached her nose around to him, after the manner of cows, to make his acquaintance; then resumed her food quietly, merely giving a swish of her versatile tail that almost drew blood on the old man's left ear.

"So, hee; so, hee; keep your durned tailstill, will you?" said the old man, "or we'll have to tie that up, too." Nothing more occurred for some time to mar the occasion, and the pail was rapidly being filled by the skillful manipulation of Uncle John, when it struck Daisy that her leg seemed relaxing, and she lifted it slightly and tried to extend it to the rear. The rope drew taut and again she turned her head and looked with amazement and indignation at the strange man, doubtless blaming him for everything.

At this point the refractory foot flew up towards her forehead, knocking Uncle John's pail hat over the manger, and astonishing him so that he didn't think about removing the pail of milk, and after shaking her foot vigorously a few seconds, down it came keplung into the pail, splashing the milk into his face and all over his shirt bosom.

That scared her, of course, and then she began to kick with both her hind feet. The clothes-line snapped, and before Uncle John could get out of range she planter that foot full in his stomach and knocked him clean through the door.

The old man was high, though, and to Sweetbrier's inquiry if he was hurt replied: "No, nothing to speak of. Just out of breath a little; but I thought you said she was gentle. If you call that cow gentle, I'd like to know what chance a body'd have with a kicker! You just get my hat, will you, and I'll go in and wash up."

"Well, you see, uncle, she was frightened," said Sweetbrier. "If she hadn't happened to step into the pail I presume 'twould have been all right. Don't you want to finish the milking? I guess she'll be quiet now."

"No, thanks; my life ain't insured, and I don't believe she likes my looks anyway," he replied, as he walked slowly to the house.

Sweetbrier finished the job in fear and trembling, but fairly behaved admirably, and has ever since, only at rare intervals flourishing that St. Vitus' leg. He will try no more experiments, however. Every time he writes to Uncle John he inquires if there is any new device out to assist in milking nervous cows.—Peck's Sun.

A Georgian's Natural Error.

A good one is told upon one of the countrymen who attended the fair. While in the city, having taken in a good supply of the violent, he thought it his duty to attend the opera. Securing a seat he was intently viewing the stage, when some one at his side, thinking from the squint of his eyes that he was near-sighted, kindly handed him an opera glass. The old fellow was confused in thanks, and took the glass behind his hat, turned it up to his lip a moment and then handed it back with the remark, that "the blasted thing is dry."

"Are cows long-lived, ma'am?" asked the new holder of the landlady.

"Well, I am told they sometimes reach the age of fifteen years."

"I don't think so."

TUESDAY, DEC. 22, 1885.

THE CITY.

There was no police court this morning.

M. E. Argo was at the Aveline house
last night.

Sheriff DeGroff Nelson is quite sick with a fever.

The city council meets in regular session this evening.

Dan McHenry is at home from Notre Dame college for the holiday vacation.

Go and see the red and green lights
awing at the Princess rink Tuesday night.

Miss Celeste Fleming is at home from convent school to pass the holidays with her parents.

The gambling houses have closed.
"They can't stand the police and hard times," said an old sport.

It is proposed to erect the monument to Hon. Thomas A. Hendricks in the new state house yard at Indianapolis.

An ordinance will be introduced tonight, at the council meeting, providing for the appointment of a meat inspector.

The county commissioners inspected the hospitals to-day and like the county asylum found them in excellent condition.

Simon H. Metcalf and Cora Keplinger,
Ulrich Whitmore and Delia Utter, Geo.
W. Phillips and Maggie Arnold have been licensed to marry.

Jaeger D. Sweet, convicted for shooting Dr. Waugh, at Chicago, is a Hoosier printer and once worked at Laporte for Sims Majors, of the Gazette.

Hon. Joseph Deftrees, of Goshen, is dead. Mr. Deftrees was once congressman from the old Fort Wayne district and is familiar to many citizens of Fort Wayne.

Captain Isaac Kidd, who holds a patent for swinging harness as used in fire and police departments, is said to be on a collecting tour raking in royalties. An early visit to this city is anticipated.

The churches are all arranging Christmas celebrations and it is proper they should. The idea is to make the church and Sunday school attractive and inviting to the young people as well as the old.

Judge Sinclair, presiding in the superior court, gave these judgements: Mary W. Mott vs. Alex. Murrehead et al., for $1,123.72; and the Lake Shore national bank, of Dunkirk, N. Y., vs.
Alex. Murrehead, for $1,204.50.

Thomas J. Hood vs. Hiram C. Moderwell and Jerome J. Stador, $131.50; D.
S. Redelsheimer vs. Wm. M. Funk, for $127.31; D. S. Redelsheimer vs. Joseph Mitten, for $85.90. Judge O'Rourke gave these judgements this morning.

The indications for the lower lake region, as reported by the weather bureau at Washington to THE SENTINEL, are as follows: Local rains, north to west wind, lower barometer, warmer in eastern portion, followed by slight fall in temperature in west portion.

Alexander Ormiston, a well known citizen and a soldier, was this morning appointed mail agent at the south depot in place of E. B. Smith, who declined the position. Mr. Ormiston has always been an active democrat, true to the party and faithful to his friends.

On Thursday evening, December 31,
at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Collins, in North Lansing, Mich., will occur the marriage of Miss Estella A. Collins to Mr. George B. Poland. The bride to-be will be remembered as a former resident of this city, living at No. 5 North Calhoun street. Numerous invitations have been received in this city.

A General order has been issued from the headquarters of the Grand Army of the Republic in a number of cities, informing members of that organization that Washington has been selected as the site of the proposed Grand Army monument to General Grant, and asking points to send the name, rank and post of each contributor to the fund, so that they may be bound together in books for preservation.

The gentlemen who went to Peru on the Wabash special yesterday have made a report approving the spark arrester and smoke consumer patented by Mr.
J. B. Barnes. They also thank Messrs.
Barnes and Morris for their hospitality, and Tex Sexton feels that Mr. Barnes has established his invention as entirely successful and capable of making railroad travel as delightful as a drive into the country, entirely free from smoke and cinders.

Pete Tonnellier's place, at Toledo, is earning a reputation. The Day says:
"From Columbus comes a story of deception in which a Toledo-maiden figures prominently. A girl named Jennie Dixon claims to have been cheated out of $75 by Walter Kennedy, a song and dance artist, formerly at Tonnellier's New Era theatre. Kennedy claimed to represent a Columbus theatre, and as Jennie wanted to go on the stage he had no trouble in getting the money. She is wiser now."

The grand jury has made no report
yet.

Postmaster Frank Benter, of New Haven, was in the city to-day.

The lights will be turned down at the Princess ten minutes to-morrow night.
Mr. A. C. Trentman has contracted for five car loads of cigars from a New York house.

The young people of the First Presbyterian church will give a festival at the church this evening.

Congressman Lowry resembles in appearance that horny-handed Ohioan, Gen. Samuel F. Carey.

Let everyone turn out at the benefit of the Fort Wayne Rifles Tuesday evening and give the boys a send off.

One freight crew running on the Wabash between Michigan city and Peru were recently laid off for a time.

"Miss Alice Smith, of this place, is visiting her brother and many friends at Fort Wayne," says the Warsaw Times.

The liquor dealers have not held a meeting for a month and all action so far attributed to them is idle nonsense.

Prof. Whitfield, a very clever character actor and facial artist, pleasantly entertained an assemblage at the academy
last night.

The city of Madison have adopted the electric light, and awarded the contract to the Jenny Electric company of Indianapolis.

The Railroad Y. M. C. A. cottage meeting will be held this evening at the residence of Robert Hamilton, 91 Williams street.

Nickel Plate and West Shore are to be worked together as soon as the affairs of the former are reorganized, says an eastern authority.

Express companies are doing a thriving business. Holiday requirements have compelled the use of extra cars on the through lines.

Mr. Marsh Wines, of Washington, is in the city to spend the holidays with his relatives here. Mr. Wines has many friends in Fort Wayne.

There is a well grounded rumor afloat that the managers of the Wabash railway contemplate the erection of a new passenger depot at LaPorte.

A Bon Bon carnival is to be given at the Princess rink Friday evening.
There will be carnival and skate until 10 o'clock and dance until 12.

Prof. and Mrs. Otto Schmidt and Miss Stella Lawrence will give a piano recital at the M. E. college this evening. The program is quite agreeable.

Charles Schoonover, the Springfield farmer who was struck by a Wabash passenger train the other night, is in a bad way and may not recover.

The cathedral choir is practicing Christmas music under the direction of Mr. John Mohr. The Christmas music in all the Catholic churches will be magnificent.

The Darlington Bros. give an entertainment for the benefit of the Fort Wayne Rifle company at the princess rink to-night. Skating is permitted before and after the exhibition.

D. F. Moore, secretary of the R. R.
Y. M. C. A., and M. A. Philley, have returned from South Bend, where they played prominent parts in opening the new Y. M. C. A. rooms there.

Mrs. Ramsey, who was run over by Taylor's horses last night, is better.
The woman lives on East Berry street and her husband is a cripple. The Kaylor will have to pay for a baggy the runaway horses smashed.

The "Drunkard's Warning" was given at the Universalist church, Huntertown, to a fine audience last Saturday night.
The drama was nicely rendered and the new scenery was very attractive. The play will be repeated next Tuesday night.

The land league will hold a meeting
this week to select a delegate to Chicago on the occasion of Charles Stewart Par-nell's reception there. Mr. W. P. Breen is spoken of, and Tex Sexton knows he would reflect honor on the Fort Wayne league at the Parnell reception.

When Christmas brings abundance
Of joys that sweeten life;
When the father glads his children
And the husband cheers his wife;
When brothers brighten sisters' cheeks,
And sweet hearts sweet hearts live;
And all the world's souls glow
And lips their love confess—
Who Santa Claus, overwhelmed with gifts,
Takes round each person's prize,
The merchant a sure of getting left
Who doesn't advertise.

"Among the new mail carriers of this city recently appointed I am glad to notice John Gloeckle, who supports his honors with all the grace imaginable.
John is a bright young German, and although he has only been on the force a few weeks he handles the mail bag with a speed and an accuracy that is characteristic of the old timers," says Roy in the Warsaw Times.

An effort has been made to learn the position of Cornelius and William K.
Vanderbilt on Nickel Plate matters.
Nothing definite can be learned, but there is some talk that they may take the proposed issue of Lake Shore bonds and buy up the Nickel Plate securities in dispute; perhaps thereby avoiding any complications with the Ohio law forbidding leases, consolidations or guarantees of parallel roads.

ROMANY RYE.

The Great Gypsy Melo-Drama
at Fort Wayne.

The truly magnificent drama of the Romany Rye will be produced at the Temple theater this week, beginning Thursday. No one can wonder how the Romany Rye has attained such widespread popularity both in England and the United States. George H. Sims has put some of his best work into it. It is superior to the Lights of London in spectacular effects, incidents, character delineation and dialogue; in the latter feature especially it is far above the great majority of melo-dramas. The plot at first seems intricate, but it is beautifully managed and as it unfolds,
act by act, the significance of each word
and gesture becomes perfectly plain to the audience. It is the strongest and most perfectly constructed and written melodrama ever seen in Fort Wayne,
and is also one of the most perfectly acted and most splendidly mounted.

ROMANY RYE.

The Great Gypsy Melo-Drama
at Fort Wayne.

The truly magnificent drama of the Romany Rye will be produced at the Temple theater this week, beginning
Thursday. No one can wonder how the Romany Rye has attained such widespread popularity both in England and
the United States. George H. Sims has put some of his best work into it. It is superior to the Lights of London in
spectacular effects, incidents, character
delineation and dialogue; in the latter feature especially it is far above the great majority of melo-dramas. The plot at first seems intricate, but it is beautifully managed and as it unfolds,
act by act, the significance of each word
and gesture becomes perfectly plain to the audience. It is the strongest and most perfectly constructed and written
melodrama ever seen in Fort Wayne,
and is also one of the most perfectly
acted and most splendidly mounted.

For cuts, bruises, sprains or strains, burns, scalds, frost bites, chilblains and bites of poisonous insects, nothing equals Salvation Oil. It annihilates pain. Price 25 cents a bottle.
